The brief CBCT orientation was done by Dr. Vinitra, who explained about its potential applications in endodontics as well as in other fields of dentistry. She had also highlighted the advantages of CBCT over conventional radiography. She explained about the CBCT hardware which consists of an x-ray source and detector, or sensor, mounted on a rotating gantry. She described about reconstruction of the CBCT images which can be displayed in a variety of ways. The images of the area of interest can be visualized in three orthogonal planes ie., axial, sagittal and coronal, simultaneously, affording the clinician a truly three- dimensional view of the area of interest.
