Summary:

Sterilization is used to create a germ-free environment and products, reducing the risk of microbial infections for the ultimate promotion or preservation of health.

Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) is specialized clothing or equipment worn by an employee for protection against infectious materials.

PPE prevents contact with an infectious agent or body fluid that may contain an infectious agent, by creating a barrier between the potential infectious material and the health care worker.

The issue register of personal protective equipment is maintained separately in each department.
